FOREIGN NEWS.

LONDON, Mar. 14.—The Marquis of Hartington, of the League of Liberals, gave notice in the House of Commons this evening that he would oppose the assumption by the Queen of the title of Empress of India.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—A statement has been issued by the Minister of the Interior, stating that a Republican form of government has been founded in France, and that there never was a government more legitimately established and that it will endeavor to secure external peace, regretting all warlike adventures, and asking the confidence and loyalty of the people toward the President.

BERLIN, Mar. 15.—The Turkish troops massed upon the Serbian frontier having committed depredations, the Serbian militia has been mobilized and ordered to march to the frontier.

DISASTROUS INSTANTANEOUS IN CENTRAL EUROPE.— LONDON, Mar. 16.—A M. A. Paris dispatch in the Times reports that the foundations have stopped work in the tobacco factory and in the foundry of Alfortville. Two hundred houses are flooded at St. Maurice. The pile of Sunday caused a frightful destruction of life and property. Eleven persons were killed in Canby. At Lettres the Rhone rose twenty feet in thirty hours, inundating the country. At Colmar, the Rhine rose ten feet, and the railway bridge like a water-spout to the height of houses. Hamburg and Frankfurt have also suffered.

NEW YORK, Mar. 14.—The failure of the National Bank of the State of New York, which has caused an intense excitement on Wall street, and the prices of securities fell off with a feverish feeling prevailing.
Prices, however, advanced and the market was fears were entertained of a run on other banks, but a calmer feeling prevailed subsequently. The capital of the bank was two millions. This, it is thought, will be reduced to one million. The bank was sustained, and the stock holders will be assessed for the deficiency arising from the troubles of the bank. It is understood the failure arose principally from bad management and unwise advances made upon cotton, the price of which has been gradually sinking here and at Liverpool for some time past.

LONDON, Mar. 16.—A Times special from Berlin says a letter from Peko Paulovich, who commanded the insurgents at the battle of Muratovitz, asserts that a force of 1,500 insurgents attacked 3,200 Turks.
Only 700 of the latter returned to their quarters.
800 were killed, and the others were wounded or dispersed. The insurgents captured 675 rifles, and four field cannons.

BOSTON, Mar. 16.—A dispatch to the Globe, from Concord, N. H., says that the nearly complete returns show that the Republicans have carried the State and have a majority of the council, and will have at least 28 majority on joint ballot.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says the recent report of the probability of war between Japan and Korea attracts considerable attention here. It must have been circulated purposely to direct the attention of the American public to the Russian action in Asia.
I learn that the Russian army, numbering 12,000 men, has entered Korean territory under pretext of pursuing brigands. If war on the southern coast of Korea, Russia would be quite ready to co-operate in the north. The occupation of Korea or at least of Korean ports, may be necessary to secure the sea route to the Pacific. The Russian action has not been unforeseen. We shall perhaps hear more concerning Russian action in Korea. Meanwhile the Russian Government is taking measures to practically utilize the recent acquisition of Saghalien.
A regular steamer service will soon be commenced between Saghalien and Shanghai. It is announced that the steamers of the new line will be gunboats.

BOSTON, March 17.—In honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by British troops, the city was decorated with flags today. Flags were displayed from the shipping and from the State and national buildings, and many private residences.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A foot of snow has fallen to-day in the northern portion of the State, and in portions of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont it is still snowing.

LONDON, Mar. 17.—A Vienna dispatch asserts that the Serbian ministry seems to favor immediate war. The situation is aggravated by continued raids of Turkish troops, and the frontier is rendered utterly reckless by want.

LONDON, Mar. 18.—A M. A. Vienna dispatch says it is stated that Serbia has determined to rise a compulsory loan for military purposes, and to exact it immediately, with the utmost rigor.

It is reported that Greece has offered to form an offensive alliance with Serbia and Roumania.
All the Serbians are convinced that Russia, although temporarily co-operating with Austria, cannot, for her own interest, permit Austria to occupy Serbia. The Serbians, therefore, disregard Austria. They are preparing to take the consequent grant, though it would accept accompanying money.

MADRID, March 16th.—Don Caldon Caldon, relative to the religious question, said the Government trusted to the Pope and his affection for Spain.
They hope Providence will grant the Pope's desires, and that the nation will be united in Catholicism, and that the nation will be united in the common head of the faithful. Later on, Senor Sagasta, in opposing the address in reply to the speech from the throne, declared religious toleration, which he declared the Vatican would never consent to grant, though it would accept accomplished facts.

A VISION OF UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD—I am sometimes called an enthusiast and a dreamer.
Perhaps I am. At least I shall enter into no discussion about it. But I confess that I look forward to or dream of the coming of that hour when the bully among the nations will be treated as a bully among individuals is treated; when the true glory of a people will be their industrial, social and intellectual progress and their peaceful conquests; and when aggressive wars will be considered by the world as the crime of civilized men.
The first great step toward this consummate end is the cordial understanding of England and America.
Let these nations comprising all the English speaking people on this side of the ocean agree in this sentiment, that war between them shall never be, and that their misunderstandings, if unhappily misunderstandings arise, shall be settled by impartial arbiters and an influence of ineluctable force will be created in favor of peace and brotherhood. For my own part, I would have no merely an understanding put into words, a treaty of indefinite duration, though revocable on notice pledging the faith of the two nations to the defense of each other in the event of a war spring up between them, upon which they cannot come to an agreement, the difference shall be determined by the arbitrament of others. Then, indeed, should we have the dawn of a new day, the day when the strongest of the nations would not set an example to all the rest, and whatever might happen on the Continent of Europe, it is almost certain that, at the very worst, the greater part of the world would remain in peace. This is, if you please, my dream.
May the dream turn out to be prophecy, and the prophecy ripen speedily to fulfillment.—David Dudley Field.

The following characteristic incident is related of Andrew Johnson: In 1855, when he was renominated for governor of Tennessee, the opposing party was very bitter in its opposition to him, and threats of personal violence were frequently made. On this occasion, while he was "stump-ing" the State, he appeared at a meeting with a revolver in his hand. Laying it upon the table, he said: "Follow me—I have been informed that part of the business to be transacted on the present occasion is the assassination of the individual who has now the honor of addressing you. I respectfully propose that this be the first business in order." Therefore, if any man has come here to-night for the purpose of killing me, I do not say to him, let him speak, but let him shoot. He paused a moment, with his hand on the pistol, and then he said: "Gentlemen!—It appears that I have been misinformed.
I will now proceed to address you on the subject which has brought us together."

FAMOUS.—Says a New York correspondent:
Girls of the willow shape wanting to be more willow still, strap back their overskirts with ribbons until they cannot step out freely for fear of the skirt dropping off suddenly, like the old woman's dress in when she turns into a car or crossing a street, to avoid bursting the fastening a little jerk is given to the dress, just at the hip; the curb is safely passed, the skirt is dropped again.
This is a very common sight, and it is a very handsome. I cannot think what caused the graceful kangaroo mode to be abandoned, but I have described why the fashion is going out of stretching down the right arm and clutching up a handful of clothes from behind."

table, he said: "Follow me—I have been in-
let him shoot. He paused a moment, with his
men!—It appears that I have been misinformed.

FAMOUS.—Says a New York correspondent:
of clothes from behind."
